Moray College UHI and Moray Council launch new partnership initiative

Moray College UHI and Moray Council launch new partnership initiative. Moray College UHI and Moray Council are now jointly delivering flexible learning opportunities in both Buckie and Forres.

This development will provide an easy access one-stop shop for learners who will be able to access a range of part time courses from beginner's IT to degree-level courses.

The provision is being made available in the Buckie Library and the Forres Community Centre.

An open day is taking place to launch the projects at Buckie Library on Tuesday 16th June at 2pm by Cllr Allan Wright, Convener of Moray Council. Anne Lindsay, Moray College acting principal, said: "This is an exciting development for us as working in partnership will allow us to maximise opportunities for learners, enhance the learning resources available, extend access and offer guidance and advice on progressing learning to the next step'.
