Rescheduled planning hearing

A hearing into plans to demolish a former Lhanbryde hotel and replace it with a shop unit has been rescheduled for November.

The original hearing was deferred in June over a land ownership issue.

Around 130 objections have been submitted against the proposal to demolish the Tennant Arms Hotel and build a shop unit with car parking.

The rescheduled hearing will take place at a special meeting of Moray Council's planning and regulatory services committee on Wednesday,

November 2.

The original recommendation by planning officers to grant planning permission subject to conditions remains unchanged.

Moray Council area stretches from Tomintoul in the south to the shores of the Moray Firth, from Keith in the east to Forres in the west. The council and its 4,500 employees respond to the needs of 95,510 residents in this beautiful part of Scotland, which nestles between Aberdeenshire and the Highlands.

Famous for its colony of dolphins, fabulous beaches and more malt whisky distilleries than any where else in Scotland, Moray is a thriving area and a great place to live.

Headquartered in Elgin, the administrative capital of Moray.
